

Summary: Chris and I met this week to start brainstorming ideas for what our website will be about. We have decided that we want to create a fictional website of some sort, but have not decided on the topic. We also assigned roles. Nick will be the Lead Developer, and Chris will be a Junior Developer. Nick will be in charge of Quality Assurance, Chris will be in charge of Web Designer, and the role of Content Developer will be shared.

Goals: This week we will decide on a topic for our website and start developing a storyboard for what will make up our website.

Problems: Our main issue right now is not having any good ideas for our website. Hopefully we will figure this out this week.
